LETTER TO SHAREHOLDERS

A Message from Our Chief Executive Officer

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

Fiscal year 2025 was a year of disciplined execution for ACME Corp. Consolidated net revenue rose to $400.0 million, up 22.7% year-over-year, driven by broad-based strength across our Hardware, Software, and Services segments. Operating income grew even faster, to $200.0 million, as the efficiency programs we outlined last year began to compound.[1]

We continued to invest in the platforms we believe will define the next decade of ACME's growth, including our expanded Devanagari- and Arabic-script localization for the ACME Cloud console, and a new regional data center footprint that now spans five continents. We are especially proud of the team's progress on responsible sourcing and on-time delivery, both of which improved materially this year.

> — Free translation: “We are not just building products, we are building trust.” Excerpt from the Chief Executive Officer's remarks to the Paris investor roundtable, June 2025.

Looking ahead to FY2026, the Board and management team remain focused on three priorities: sustaining double-digit revenue growth, expanding gross margin toward our 58% medium-term target, and returning capital to shareholders through our newly authorized buyback program.[2] On behalf of the entire ACME team, thank you for your continued trust and partnership.

Sincerely,

Jordan A. Whitfield
Chief Executive Officer, ACME Corp.

Figures are presented on a consolidated basis and may not sum precisely due to rounding. All amounts are unaudited management estimates prepared for illustrative purposes.

[1] Software segment revenue for FY2025 reflects a change in the timing of revenue recognition for multi-year subscription contracts, adopted at the start of Q1 FY2025. Prior-year figures have not been restated.

[2] Net income assumes a blended effective tax rate of 20.0% across all periods presented and excludes discrete tax items, which were immaterial in both years.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

Quarterly Revenue by Segment

ACME Corp. delivered sequential revenue growth in every quarter of fiscal 2025. The chart below decomposes consolidated quarterly revenue into its three reporting segments: Hardware, Software, and Services.

Software remained the fastest-growing segment in percentage terms, while Hardware continued to contribute the largest absolute dollar growth as our new regional distribution partnerships scaled through the back half of the fiscal year.

Selected Risk Factors

RISK FACTORS — ITEM 1A

Investing in our common stock involves risk. You should carefully consider the risks described below, together with the rest of the information in this report, before making an investment decision.

We face intense competition.

The markets for our Hardware, Software, and Services offerings are highly competitive and rapidly evolving. Some competitors have greater financial, technical, and marketing resources than we do, which could allow them to respond more quickly to new opportunities.[1]

Our results depend on international operations.

We generate a significant and growing portion of our revenue outside the United States, including in the eight regional markets described on the preceding page. Currency fluctuations, local regulatory change, and geopolitical developments in these markets could adversely affect our results.

We rely on a limited number of suppliers.

Certain components used in our Hardware segment are available from a limited number of suppliers. Any disruption to these relationships could impair our ability to manufacture and deliver products on schedule.[2]

[1] For a discussion of our competitive position, see “Business — Competition” elsewhere in our filings (not included in this excerpt).

[2] We seek to mitigate supplier concentration risk through dual-sourcing arrangements where commercially feasible; such arrangements are not in place for all critical components.
